

Harding Decides Against Bond Issue for Bonus

"Not Feasible" is Announcement After Conference With Mellon—Favors Sales Tax—Watson Hammers Eight-fold Tax Plan in Senate, as Injustice to Men.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 14.—Despite the desire of Republican members of the senate finance committee to discard the house plan for raising revenue for a soldiers' bonus through direct taxation and to substitute a bond issue, President Harding and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon have decided that the bond issue is not feasible, it was stated officially at the White House this afternoon.

It was learned officially that President Harding is "unalterably opposed" to the special taxes which the house ways and means committee proposes to levy to raise $350,000,000 to pay the bonus.

The president is expected to communicate his views to the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee within a short time.

It was understood that the president still favors the general sales tax as a method of obtaining the necessary funds for the bonus.

It had been the plan of those in congress who opposed the eight-point bonus tax plan of the house ways and means committee, to obtain the consent of the administration to authorize an issue of short term treasury certificates to raise $350,000,000 or $400,000,000 during the first year, that the bonus would have to be paid.

The opinion of the administration was asked because of the often-expressed opposition of the secretary of the treasury.

The first break in the senate on the house eight-fold tax plan for financing the soldiers' bonus, was made today by Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, in asserting that the executive plan is being "treated as a tolerated outcast by the government for whom he fought."

Watson declared that the eight-point tax proposals would not only "heap additional taxation upon an already overtaxed people, but would compel the ex-soldier and ex-sailor to pay back into the treasury whatever money they received as a bonus for the heroic self-sacrifices they made in the World War."

HERE ARE SOME NURSING HINTS

As Given Public Nursing Class By Physicians—Dr. Johnston Tells of German and Swiss His Fly—Dr. Cranton Gives of His Knowledge of Psychology of Nursing and Child.

There is no abatement in the interest shown by the members of the free nursing class being held at the High School Auditorium twice a week; on the contrary, there were many new members enrolled Monday evening.

Two talks were given in addition to the practical instruction. Dr. Frank Johnston, the health officer, gave the first talk on "Disease Prevention," which was both interesting and profitable, and undoubtedly the vein of humor shown throughout drove home the facts with emphasis.

Of course to prevent disease it is necessary to know what causes sickness and what Dr. Johnston did was to describe the various modes of infection in order to show how to avoid the same. Under the subject "Germs," Dr. Johnston explained carefully what a "germ carrier" is; a person who, while not sick himself, is so constituted as to carry about on their person germs which the body is still infected with those with whom they may come in contact. These persons are often more dangerous than the down sick person for they are not so readily recognized. Similarly what are known as "skipped cases," those so light as not even recognized in the home and where no physician is called, carry infection. Then there is the fifth person who scatters typhoid germs, because they do not sufficiently wash their hands. "Then," said Dr. Johnston, "you all know that there are two kinds of carriers, especially of diphtheria and scarlet fever; the carrier in your family and the carrier in your neighbor's family. Now, it is all nonsense, or a pick on the part of the doctor to say that the carrier in your family is such a person, and therefore there is no rhyme or reason why they should miss school, and you slip them through if you possibly can. But the carrier in your neighbor's family is quite a different person, who is a menace to the community and should be at least imprisoned, and most certainly not allowed to go near a school. Yet in either case, the carrier may give to some one else the disease germ that will mean death."

Besides taking a disease from personal contact, Dr. Johnston told of the rare cases of "intermediary infection," where germs remain for a long time in clothing put away but not disinfected; then there is air infection as in the cases of flu, and possibly, infantile paralysis and meningitis. Today infection from water is rare indeed. But infection through dairy food, such as uncooked vegetables or worm infested meats is still with us. However the fellow who got the worst scolding was the fifth, abominable fly, and if any one of the three hundred persons present ever lets a fly live after what Dr. Johnston told, it will surely be because they can't help themselves.

Dr. Cranton was the next speaker, who had two subjects to talk about. First he gave an excellent talk on "The Psychology of Nursing." In other words the mental effect of the nurse upon the patient. The main points that he made were the need of quiet, doing one's work either in the sick room or about the home if one were doing nursing for others; that one should never ask a patient how bad they feel, thus depressing them; especially the nurse should stand absolutely by the physician in charge of the case; carefully obeying his instructions and that without criticism. No nurse has any right to go about with a frown or in self pity over a hardness of their task. They should be cheerful or give place to some one who would be. Particularly with children is cheerfulness and an apparent disregard of aches and pains— even while caring for them—desirable. And a good nurse is willing to assume such responsibility regarding the patient as may be necessary.

The second topic on which Dr. Cranton spoke was cold conditions relative to the eyes, ears and throat. First and foremost keep the eyes clean all of the time, no matter how often they need cleansing with a solution of boric acid. Never touch the cornea or round part of the eye, and in bathing the eye with the warm solution let the water be poured over the eye and run off, never making second use of the water or bits of cloth used to wipe out the water on to the eye a second time, with the possibility of re-infection. For this reason Dr. Cranton did not advocate the use of the eye cup. Where the eyes are painful, bathing with hot water is helpful, but only bathing. In any case Dr. Cranton warned the nurse to do as the doctor instructed, when ever there was a doctor in charge. If there might be a loss of sight, better get in touch with an eye specialist at once.

If those present remember what Dr. Cranton said about ears and earache, the part of children, scores of children will be relieved of much future suffering. A child's earache is not a matter to be postponed any more or longer than an abscess on the finger. It needs immediate attention. First apply dry heat, a piece of flannel backed up with a hot water bag, heated iron, etc. Do not put oil in the ear, nor cotton into the canal of the ear.

Dr. Cranton's prescription for the best home remedy for a sore throat was at night, to wring out a good sized cloth fairly dry in real cold water, wrap that about the

REVOLT MENACES IRISH FREE STATE

Do Valera Supporters Threaten Trouble—Belfast Deaths Mount to 18—Collins Goes to London To Talk To Lloyd-George—Hostile Line-up Still On Ulster Border.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Belfast, Feb. 14.—Fifteen persons, including a woman and four children, have been killed in fighting between Orangemen and Sinn Feiners in this city and suburbs during the last 48 hours.

Bomb explosions and rifle fusillades rattled through the streets during most of the night.

The Ulster border has been "sealed" to civilian traffic, according to information from Monaghan.

Two heavily armed forces, one of Republicans and the other of Ulsterites, are lined up facing each other along the Ulster-Free State line. No shots have been exchanged, but the soldiers are refusing to allow civilians to use the highways crossing the boundary.

Twenty persons were wounded in Belfast throughout the night, several of them policemen who were trying to rout soldiers.

The latest children to succumb were Catherine Kennedy and Eliza Chanton. They had been wounded in a bomb explosion. Fourteen persons were hurt by the same blast. A man was killed and two special constables wounded in an unusually heavy outbreak of shooting before midnight.

London, Feb. 14.—Members of the Irish provisional government at Dublin are taking vigorous measures today to avert a threatened revolutionary outbreak by extremist Republicans. It has been learned that the Dublin government are plotting its overthrow and are conspiring to get control of the Irish Republican army.

Hostility against the Arthur Griffith-Michael Collins faction of the Sinn Fein has been smoldering since the Anglo-Irish peace treaty was ratified by the British government. It was brought to a head by fighting on the Ulster frontier which followed raids and the forcible seizure of Republicans and Ulsterites.

British government officials are watching the Irish situation with anxiety. There are two momentous possibilities:

1.—Revolution within the Free State.

2.—Civil war between the Free State and Ulster.

The cabinet is hopeful that both will be averted and that cool, calm judgment will result in a tranquil settlement satisfactory to all sides.

The news that the British government had cancelled orders for the evacuation of British troops from Ireland, aroused consternation at Dublin.

Later it was stated on good authority that the British government had not cancelled all orders for troop withdrawals, but only instructions for evacuation from certain districts. British troops will be maintained at Cork which has long been a hotbed of trouble and disorder.

Michael Collins, minister of finance in the Dublin government, and known as "the power behind" the provisional administration, is expected in London today to confer with Premier Lloyd-George and other members of the cabinet. Collins wishes to know what the British government's plans are in the event of further disturbances in Ireland.

Some of the steamship sailings from Dublin were cancelled. The only rift in the gathering storm clouds was a despatch from Dublin saying that the Irish Republican troops had begun to release kidnapped Orangemen. The Dublin despatch quoted from the Irish Republican army communiqué: "Two Ulsterites captured at Caledon have been released. Others will be released shortly."

Settlement of Seal Sale.

There will be a special meeting of the executive committee of the Ulster county committee on the presentation of tuberculosis held at the office of the secretary, Dr. Mary Gaze-Day, on Wall street on Thursday evening to make a final settlement of the tuberculosis Christmas seal sale of 1921.

throat and cover with a big towel bound around snugly.

After Dr. Cranton's excellent talk, Dr. Day told how to make a mustard plaster. Mix one teaspoonful of ground mustard with two of flour, using sufficient water to make a smooth paste. Apply this to a good strong piece of cloth, leaving a plain margin all around the paste of about an inch. Then cover the paste with a piece of cheese cloth or other very thin cloth, warm the plaster a little, and apply it by laying the thin cloth side next the patient's body where needed. Let it remain only long enough to redden the skin; never allow it to blister.

By way of practical demonstration there was continued instruction in the taking of temperatures and in the making of beds. Class members actually did the bed making under the supervision of the nurses. Of course, not anywhere near all could take part in that work last night, though there were five beds to work with, so this instruction will be continued until all have learned this lesson.

On Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be another practical demonstration and another special talk given. All class members are asked to be sure and bring to each meeting their punch cards, depicting their attendance.

"DOC" OWENS PEDDLED HERE

Before He Became So Expert With Cards He Was Harred From Country—Killed in Havana Accident, He Left Fortune.

W. J. (Doc) Owens, known internationally as one of the cleverest card sharps in the world, who was killed by a fall down a stairway in the Hotel Alameda in Havana, Cuba, on January 14, began his life in this country thirty-five or forty years ago as a pack peddler in the Catskill mountain region, according to the New York Sun.

Most of his time was spent in this region, traveling with a pack on his back. Although his death occurred on January 14, and the body was quietly sent to New York city for burial, rumors of his death were not verified until Saturday when word was received from the American consul general at Havana.

The right name of Owens was Jacob Aracowski. His family with cards became widely known in the towns he visited and it was not long before he abandoned his calling as a peddler and joined a band of card sharps who operated chiefly on the trans-Atlantic liners.

In 1906 Owens was barred from the ships of one of the big lines after it was reported that he had won $200,000 from William Thaw of Pittsburgh. The story was ridiculed by both men and later Owens issued a statement that he had reformed, and never again would touch a card.

He went to England and when he attempted to return to America he was barred by the Washington authorities. Three years ago Owens again attempted to enter the United States by way of Cuba but failed and decided to spend the remainder of his life in Havana. He is said to have left a large fortune in real estate in London and also in Havana.

Alleging collusion, in which the evidence was staged to permit her husband, Michael Deeb, a Newburgh business man, to obtain evidence upon which to base a suit that won him an interlocutory decree of divorce, Mrs. Emma Deeb, aged 24, has just had the decree set aside by Supreme Court Justice A. H. Seeger.

Mrs. Deeb's attorney declares that Mrs. Deeb, who did not defend the suit, now denies any wrongdoing. It was alleged at the trial that Mrs. Deeb and W. L. Thomas were at an abandoned hotel in Ashland, Greene county, for some time. The husband denies the allegation of collusion. Justice Seeger granted Mrs. Deeb an extension of time in which to file an answer to the husband's suit, and the case will be tried over again.

A Michael Deeb of Newburgh last year for several months had a branch store for the sale of silk and other dress goods in the Cordis' row, 274-276 Fair street. He recently went into bankruptcy at Newburgh.

The appropriation bill does not include all the expenditures the state will be called upon to make during the next fiscal year, Senator Hewitt said. In its present form, the bill is $9,847,471 less than the appropriations made last year for the same purposes.

Coe New Secretary of Chamber of Commerce

Resigns as Manager of Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association to Accept $3,000 Position Here—Is Favorably Known to Kingston Business Men and Familiar with City's Problems and Resources.

Louis S. Coe, president and manager of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association, accepted today appointment as secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce to take effect March 1 in place of Secretary Hudson who recently resigned to become sales manager of the Bachelor Medical Appliance Company of this city.

Mr. Coe, who is now a resident of Stamford, N. Y., and president of that village, will move to Kingston in the near future. The appointment is made at a salary of $3,000.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association will be held shortly to elect a successor to Mr. Coe, as manager of that association.

President Arthur J. Burns of the Chamber of Commerce said this morning:

"The new secretary committee has been busily engaged in considering the many applications submitted since Mr. Hudson announced his resignation. The committee and the full board of directors unanimously and enthusiastically decided that we should endeavor to secure the services of Mr. Coe who is thoroughly familiar with the needs of Kingston and our adjacent territory, and who has made many warm friends here in connection with his work as manager of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association whose headquarters are at our Chamber of Commerce rooms. We presented the matter to Mr. Coe and have secured his acceptance. We feel confident that the Chamber of Commerce will have a very successful year in 1922."

Mr. Coe said that he did not wish to make anything more than a simple statement at this time but that he is prepared to put his shoulder to the wheel in order to help the officers and members of the Chamber of Commerce maintain the good work that the organization has done and go forward for the accomplishment of the many important matters now in hand.

"I have come to know a great many Kingston people during the past two years," said Mr. Coe, "and know that it will be very pleasant to work and live in Kingston which I firmly believe has the greatest natural resources and the best prospects of any city between New York and Albany."

Secretary Hudson expressed his enthusiasm at the appointment of Mr. Coe. He said: "Having worked for three and one-half years as secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and intending to continue to be a resident of Kingston, I am naturally greatly interested in seeing the work which we have in hand carried to a successful conclusion and in seeing a strong Chamber of Commerce prepared at all times to deal effectively with new problems and opportunities as they present themselves. There is no doubt but that Louis Coe is exceptionally qualified to undertake the responsibilities which fall on the executive secretary of a strong Chamber of Commerce."

"It is now more than two years ago that Mr. Coe and I worked to secure the organization of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association which under his leadership has proved itself to be of tremendous value to all of the mountain region, including Kingston."

"The same qualities of good judgment, perseverance, enthusiasm and tact which have built the mountain association guarantee sound accomplishment in Mr. Coe's work as secretary of this Chamber of Commerce."

"Mr. Coe also has a tremendous advantage over the average new secretary in that he has for some time through the close association between the chamber and the mountain association been in close touch with our work and quite familiar with Kingston's problems and resources."

Mr. Coe, as chairman of the public relations committee of the Hudson Valley Federation Chamber of Commerce, was also one of the five or six men chiefly responsible for the planning and carrying out of the inspection trip of the New York state waterways which did so much to reveal to congressmen and shippers the possibilities of our river and canal transportation.

BORAH STARTS FIGHT ON BONUS

Taxpayers as Heavily Burdened Now as When Harding Pleaded for Delay—Expenditure One Disabled Likely to Total $75,000,000,000—
Time for Sacrifice Now.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 14.—The fight on the proposed bonus to the ex-service men of the World War began in the senate yesterday with Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the eleven senators who are definitely against the proposition, directing the assault. As Senator Borah proceeded, Senators King, Warren and Glass, who are also against the legislation, rallied to his support as occasion offered, while Senator Jones of New Mexico, an advocate of the bonus, defended the bonus.

Senator Borah declared that the American people are willing to make any sacrifice to care for and maintain the wounded, mentally afflicted and ill among the soldiers who fought in the great war. He said that at the present ratio of increase the care of these unfortunate veterans will only total within ten years $1,500,000,000 annually and added that before the obligation was discharged the total would probably exceed $75,000,000,000.

Quoting from the speech that President Harding made in the senate on July 12, when he urged that the bonus bill be re-committed, Senator Borah said that conditions as they affected the heavily burdened taxpayers of the country were no better than they were when the president made his plea against action.

"While the appeal to patriotism, said Senator Borah," was strong and effective in the days of 1917 and 1918, the appeal to patriotism now is even more essential than it was at that time. It is not difficult to get men to do their duty in time of war because the stress and the intensity of the situation nerve them to action and they see things as they are. But in time of peace, when these things are undermining the very pillars and the very underpinning of the government itself, men drift and drift until it is too late.

"In my opinion, the task of young men who went to war in 1917 and 1918 is only beginning. We need their leadership, their self-sacrifice, their command of the respect of the people to point a way out of this situation. If we engage in this proposition of distributing money from the public treasury it will grow worse for them, as well as for their fellow citizens. If they come and ask of the treasury others will come and also ask for consideration. It will become a competition of one class invading the treasury one day and another class invading the treasury the next.
"It is my opinion that the hour of sacrifice is now and not in 1917 and 1918. Every man who is well, every man who is enjoying health, every man who came back unscathed, every citizen, whether under the law of the selective draft or a volunteer, who did his duty then, must continue to do his duty now, or we shall suffer more in the future than we have suffered in the past."

love. He was pleading, and she sulked, just to draw him on. He kept whispering, "Be my darling again—oh, be my darling again."
After half an hour of this somebody shouted out, "For heaven's sake go ahead and be his darling!"

We heard a string of sleigh bells passing the house the other night, but didn't get up to see who was carrying them.

When your another was a girl she out-dressed all the girls in the neighborhood, but it looks as if the girls today are trying to outstrip them.

Ingrown toenails is shore sometimes painful, says Dynamite Dan, but didn't ever hear some shorthorn tryin' to help his wife buy herself a hat.

When you feel all shaken up, it is probably flyover complaint.

Gosh.

(From the Livingston, Ky. Enterprise.)

"Atlas Peck, who left home last night to buy a calf from a man on Musket Ridge, has not been heard from at a late hour today and foul play is feared, as he had more than two dollars on his person."

Enviably.

Do you realize little star,
What a lucky bum you are,
Being an eternal light,
Out all day and lit all night?

One reason why tobacco chewing has lost favor is because there are fewer open fireplaces for the disposal of the by-product.

Honors Are Even.

headway driving a nail, but did you ever see a man try to wrap up a bundle of laundry?

An entirely new kind of soap

Takes the place of bar soap for the regular family wash

Soap for the family wash, different from anything you ever before used. Soap that soaks clothes clean.

Every grain made of pure materials perfectly combined—it does what soap has never done before.

Just by soaking, in its big lasting suds, the most ground-in dirt is gently loosened and dissolved. Only the very dirtiest places need to be rubbed at all. This is why Rinso is taking the place of bar soap for the regular family wash.

If you use a washing machine you will find that Rinso gives you just exactly the kind of suds you need.

Rinso is the great soap maker's answer to women the country over who want a soap to do the family wash as easily and wonderfully as Lux does fine laundry.

Rinso is made by the largest soap makers in the world. Get Rinso today—at grocery and department stores. Lever Bros.
Co., Cambridge, Mass.

PERNICIOUS ACTIVITY.

The public is being assured that the hasty, separate and disorganized investigations which have been under way since the murder of Motion Picture Director Taylor at Hollywood, Cal., are to give place to a thorough investigation undertaken by the district attorney whose business it was from the discovery of the crime to do so.

Effectiveness of investigations does not lie in their number. Almost before the last body had been removed from the ruins of the collapsed Washington theatre two weeks ago an announcement was made that seven investigations had been started. When a horror of more than ordinary magnitude occurs there is a rush on the part of officials to announce that they have started investigations. From three to six is the usual number. The cities generally are victims of the investigation fever in its worst form. Rumor communitia have been known to depend on their district attorney, who is chosen because he is capable and efficient.

Sometimes there is a wild scramble among the investigators to secure the thought for themselves by furnishing sensational statements not backed by evidence. But punishment of the guilty results from the inquiry conducted so calmly and generally after it by the prosecuting officer who knows he must search for facts which will bear the scrutiny of trial and appellate courts.

The number of unnecessary investigations which follow an unusual crime or a calamity involving criminality can be explained only on the theory that some of the investigators have no other means of justifying their jobs. As a rule their activity breeds the facts and beclouds the issues, adding to the task imposed on conscientious officials, who must assume the ultimate responsibility of prosecution. One thorough investigation conducted by a competent prosecuting officer costs less and is worth more in results than fifty amateur inquiries which merely scratch the surface.

NEVADA'S LETHAL CHAMBER.

In lieu of the hangman's noose and the more modern electric chair Nevada has provided a "lethal chamber," an airtight room into which can be introduced at any moment through hidden conduits a suffocating gas. It is intended that the doomed criminal shall be suffocated in his sleep, and under the Nevada law execution in this form is to take place at any time within a specified week, at the discretion of the sheriff. Two Chinese murderers are condemned to die soon in this way, but the constitutionality of the procedure is challenged, it being contended that the new law violates the constitution's provision against "cruel and unusual punishment."

Questionably it is cruel to rob a condemned man of sleep during the whole of his last week on earth, for this is virtually what would result. A week of uncertainty and suspense would be a week of horror calling for a merciful release. It is far better for a condemned man to know the hour of his death than to shiver with dread of something like secret assassination at any moment within seven days. Moreover, the proposition is opposed to the sentiment of the Christian world that every man, however heinous his crime, is entitled to the consolations of religious ministrations in the dread hour preceding his execution. Though the aim is to decrease, it actually increases the terrors of death. Certain knowledge and the surrender of all hope tend to bring a measure of resignation and calm. Both the psychologist and the representative of religious faith would say that it is more merciful to let the condemned men face death with his eyes open.

The rapid introduction of wireless telephones carrying their daily and nightly programs of opera selections, lectures and sermons, news bulletins, market reports and a large number of other features is likely to be followed by complications which may require regulation just as regulations became necessary for wireless telegraphy. Up to the present the purchasers of wireless telephones outfits are people who desire to hear others talk of this instead of furnishing the entertainment, but the gift of gab will not remain in section long and people who have it will not be content to remain silent when there are so many subjects on which they think they can shed enlightenment. One possible salvation from such pests is the cost of the apparatus needed for sending forth their voice waves to mingle with the sound waves that are really worth while but nobody with a love for talking will be balked for long, no matter what the cost. Human energy must have some outlet, but with wireless telephony the time-worn advice to "tell it to all outdoors" takes on new significance.

By ROBERTSON MIFFLIN CO.

What do you know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do birds have crops?
2. What is the quickest growing tree in the eastern United States?
3. What is the most effective way to get rid of rats? I cannot coax them into a wire trap no matter what bait I use.

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Is the ladybird a harmful insect?

No, decidedly beneficial, as it feeds on scale insects both in its larval and adult stages. At one time quantities were imported from China and Japan to fight the San Jose scale. Out of this colony only two individuals reached America alive. But during their first season this side of the Pacific they multiplied into a brood of 5,000.

2. Is milk more likely to get rancid in warm weather?

No, on the contrary, the bacteria that cause this condition grow best in low temperatures, so that the trouble is very likely to crop out in cool weather. It can be cured by sterilizing the utensils in which the milk is handled, and also washing the cow with some antiseptic. Ropy milk is disagreeable, but not positively known to be harmful as food.

3. Is it true that at night one can see owls sitting beside prairie dogs near the prairie dog's hole?

Likely true that the owl will be watching a chance to pounce on a prairie dog, but we doubt extremely that the two creatures are seen in company, unless we count the dog's being inside the owl. The little hooting owl of the plain makes its home in an abandoned badger or prairie dog hole, and while it feeds largely on insects, preys a good deal on some of these animals. Hence the apparent association.

PROGRAM FOR SHRINERS' DANCE

New York and Kingston Made and Entertainment Intended to Give Pleasure to Those Who Dance and Those Who Don't.

The program for the Shriners' dance on the evening of February 27 is practically complete and presents one of the best entertainments ever given in this city. The Shriners are making every effort to provide something which will interest those who come to look on as well as provide the best of music for those who dance.

Balle's orchestra of twelve pieces needs no introduction. The symphonists of New York, noted for their dance music, will find in the local boys an aggregation seldom found outside the big cities. The executive committee is bending every effort to make this the banner dance not alone of the season but all previous ones.

On Monday evening, February 27, the armory will be decorated as seldom before and for those who go merely for the entertainment a program seldom put on for the price of the Shriners' ticket will be given. Those who will participate in the dancing will find ample enjoyment in both the talent and the two orchestras which will furnish some of the best dance music ever brought together at Kingston. The proceeds will be donated to the managers of the Industrial Home of the city. Tickets are selling fast and may be procured from any member of the Kingston Shriners Association or at Charles B. Everett's, M. H. Herzog's, S. Cohen's Sons, J. E. Van Derveer's on Broadway, Samuel Stern and Johnston's drug store.

The entertainment will commence at 8 o'clock with a band concert followed by the entertainment program. Miss Mathilde Verba, one of the entertainers from New York, has a most pleasing personality and a voice of extreme beauty and resonance. She made a big hit at the New York Capitol Theatre recently and is in very great demand.

It may be of interest to know that Miss Verba is the daughter of a once wealthy Belgian nobleman having extensive manufacturing interests just outside Antwerp. Before the coming of the Boche she had studied under the celebrated Neapolitan teacher Mme. Vitterie Arimondi who numbers her pupils Ross Raisa and Giacomo Rimini. Miss Verba has made successful appearances in Venice, Rome, Monte Carlo and Paris and had returned home to prepare for her first Belgian appearance. The concert which was to have taken place in Brussels was to be attended by the king and queen and was scheduled for the date of August 15, 1914. At the coming of the invaders Miss Verba with her mother and a sister were able to crowd aboard a small vessel which brought them safely to England. They had to leave everything except a small sum of money and their jewelry behind and even what they did save soon went as some of their friends had not even been able to escape with more than the clothes they wore. Miss Verba's father and brothers stood up before the enemy and have never been heard of since. Miss Verba and her sister engaged in war work until after the armistice when the family made their way to this country.

Then there will be the Marvellous Miller, dancers, who have been featured from coast to coast over the Keith and Orpheum circuits. They were the hit feature at Churchill's cabaret for two years and also at the Strand Roof, New York city. They have been engaged for the leading resorts of London and leave early in March for England.

The Gloria Trumpeters are one of America's foremost brass instrument ensembles presenting a very beautiful picture in their white robes. Their phonograph records have made them universally popular. These four charming ladies with their silver trumpets have appeared at the Y. M. C. A. here and in numerous church entertainments, and have received high compliments from various religious workers.

All things considered, the entertainment at the Shriners' dance is going to be on a par with previous ones and with Balle's orchestra and the Skee & Armstrong Broadway Syncopators the dancers are going to have the best of music. The Broadway Syncopators is composed entirely of soloists and some exceptionally peppy music and specialties are to be expected.

GOOD PRUNING DESCRIBED

Methods Discussed in Experiment Station Bulletin.

A Geneva Experiment Station bulletin on the pruning and training of grapes in New York describes various methods of handling the grape vine, particularly the so-called single-stem Kniffin method which is said to be the most popular method followed in the grape districts of western New York.

According to the station bulletin, this method consists in training a single branch to serve as the trunk of the vine with two canes developed at the lower wire and two at the upper wire and tied one to the right and one to the left of the trunk along each wire. It is stated that the system may be fully established by the end of the fourth season and that subsequent pruning consists in cutting away all canes but the four mentioned above, leaving sufficient spurs at each level to supply fruiting canes for the following year. The amount of fruiting wood is thus easily limited to the capacity of the vine by regulating the length of the four canes.

Experiments conducted by the station in Chautauque county have led to the conclusion that there is little choice between early winter pruning and spring pruning of grapes so far as the effect on yield, wood growth, or maturity of fruit is concerned. It is pointed out, however, that a better selection of fruiting canes can be made in the spring after the severe winter temperatures have passed than can be done earlier in the season.

Room Dark, Floor Lighted.
One of the immemorial laws of waiting about in a dark room at night is to keep the feet against the wall. At the same time one does not always want to light up the room. The device of a certain electrical engineer, who places lamps under the bed and bureau, is this: the floor is brightly lighted, while a upper part of the room remains dark. Thus one can only adjust the light, and at the same time the privacy.

ESKIMOS COOK MEAT AND SHUN BUTTEREGG

Among Other Things in Advance-ment They Wanted to Fight for United States.

Alaska's Eskimos have changed greatly in the last 20 years, since the white man interested in their welfare came among them, according to Bishop Peter T. Rowe, Episcopal Bishop of Alaska, who has been an eye-witness of their development.

"When first I visited the Eskimos of Alaska they ate their meat raw and seemed to have little object in life beyond eating," Bishop Rowe said in Chicago recently.

"Today they are cooking their food, they are beginning to use stoves, their igloos are much bigger and cleaner, the children that have grown up in the meantime are bigger and brighter, and their interests are much larger."

The Eskimos did what they could to help America in the war, by sending down feathers for pillows, Bishop Rowe reported. "They killed ducks, geese and swans," he said, "and collected a considerable amount of feathers. A number of young men came to me to say that if the United States needed them to fight they were ready to go."

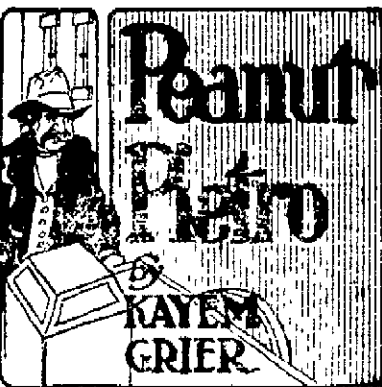

Educational work among the Eskimos is conducted by the United States bureau of education and the Episcopal church. "One young Eskimo is now teaching. Another developed such skill in wood carving, Bishop Rowe reported, that he was offered a fine position in New York by a firm that saw specimens of his work."

The Eskimos are developing a sturdy character, he added. When warned against having anything to do with the bootlegger, he said, they steadily leave him alone.

Lady Diana Duff-Cooper

Lady Diana Duff-Cooper, formerly Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the duke and duchess of Rutland, has long been known as England's most beautiful woman. She was the first British woman of title to enter the "movies." She recently completed her first work as a film actress in a large production in natural colors.

WHY—

DO OUR EYES "SPARKLE" WHEN WE ARE HAPPY?

THE term "sparkling," as generally employed, is equivalent to "bright" or "glistening" and the latter synonym provides the key to the question as to why people's eyes sparkle when they are merry.

There is some nervous reaction between the feeling of merriment or joy which makes one's eyelids move up and down more rapidly than usual. This movement of the eyelid causes a tiny drop of tear-liquid to spread over the ball of the eye, precisely what occurs every time we wink, thus washing the eyeball clean and leaving upon it a film of moisture which naturally glitters or sparkles in the light. The statement that a person's "eyes sparkle" is, therefore, not strictly true. It is not the eye, but the coating of liquid over it which causes the reflection of light and produces the impression of brightness.

WHY—

DO OUR EYES "SPARKLE" WHEN WE ARE HAPPY?

THE term "sparkling," as generally employed, is equivalent to "bright" or "glistening" and the latter synonym provides the key to the question as to why people's eyes sparkle when they are merry.

There is some nervous reaction between the feeling of merriment or joy which makes one's eyelids move up and down more rapidly than usual. This movement of the eyelid causes a tiny drop of tear-liquid to spread over the ball of the eye, precisely what occurs every time we wink, thus washing the eyeball clean and leaving upon it a film of moisture which naturally glitters or sparkles in the light. The statement that a person's "eyes sparkle" is, therefore, not strictly true. It is not the eye, but the coating of liquid over it which causes the reflection of light and produces the impression of brightness.

Accepted Definitions.

The bureau of standards says that the momentum of a moving body is defined as the product of the mass of the body times the velocity. An everyday definition of mass is the quantity of matter in the body whereas the weight of the body is the force exerted on the body by the earth. The mass of a body is unchangeable, whereas the weight is zero both at the center of the earth and at great distances from the earth.

Tribute to the Clematis.

No clematis is like another clematis. It climbs differently; the setting is different; it consorts with different flowers in different surroundings; and as it puts forth its tender leaves, the delicate leaf stalks grip here, there, and instantly curl round the support. Climbing plants are versatile, always unexpected, and redolent; generous to those with whom they live, not proud, and a very real joy to all travelers.—Christian Science Monitor

Measuring Fixed Stars.

For many years it was thought impossible to measure the fixed stars. The ablest astronomers, with the best glasses, tried and failed. When the dual triumph came it was not some fiery orb that attracted the most attention to itself whose distance from the sun was found but an insignificant sixth magnitude star not far from Deneb, which had only its number, 61 Cygni, for a name.

Old Boston Burying Grounds.

After the oldest burying grounds in Boston were forsaken for newer ones they were allowed to go unweeded for, and in three years of neglect stones were stolen, moved about, broken and lost. In Copp's Hill burying ground, up the street from the Old North church, stones were fished to fill in holes in chimneys and prop up door steps around the neighborhood.

Meanings of Oats in Dream.

To dream of this grain foretells a journey by land; if an engaged young girl dreams of oats it denotes that her wedding tour is not far off. To see the field of oats is a good sign, but to see it cut down is an evil omen. To see oats stored away denotes famine. To sow oats signifies much happiness and gain.

The First Keyboard.

The earliest keyboard of which there is record was that of the hydraulic or water organ a Greek invention of the Second century. In this the keys, eighteen in number, were all level. The modern chromatic keyboard was in use as early as 1521. The keys were so large they had to be struck with the fist.

The Helping Hands

Do you know what you are doing when you allow Furniture—Old Clothes and Junk of every description to accumulate? You are HOARDING. You are like those people who are fearful of trusting their bank or country and hide their money instead of putting it into active use. You no doubt looked with contempt on the man who refused to buy his country's bonds. You are doing practically the same thing, only in a lesser degree, when you allow things to accumulate which could be turned into ready cash.

The Fourth Estate.

The expression "the fourth estate," referring to newspaper workers is credited to Edmund Burke, who is quoted in Thomas Carlyle's fifth lecture on "Heroes and Hero Worship" as saying, "There are three estates in parliament, but in the reporters' gallery yonder there sits a fourth estate, more important far than they all." This was in 1800. In this country where class distinctions are not made, politically little ever is heard of the three estates—the nobility, the clergy and the people—but the term "fourth estate" is comparatively common.

Meter as a Measure.

The meter is the unit of length in scientific work. Almost all the countries of the world, with the exception of the British empire and the United States, have adopted this unit along with the rest of the metric system of which it is a part. The meter is 39.37 inches or 3.28 feet, an absolute unit, while the foot is arbitrary. The meter is the two-millionth part of some quarter of a terrestrial meridian, that is of a degree of longitude. It is, accordingly, based on an invariable distance and can be checked at any time.

Your Duty Is Done.

What I must do, is all that concerns me, not what the people think. This rule, equally arduous in actual and in intellectual life, may serve for the whole distinction between greatness and meanness. It is the harder because you will always find those who think they know what is your duty better than you know it. It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after your own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson

But there are still two very great defects. One is the lack of security, which is felt as an absolute bar to air travel by a vast number of possible patrons. The other is the inability to rise from and light under small spaces.

It would mean much more to the future of aerial navigation to cure these shortcomings than it ever can to increase the speed of air travel and set a swifter pace in the aerial transportation of mails and light freight.

How They May Be Avoided or Got Rid Of Is Told by New York Physician.

With the approach of winter the subject of colds in the head again becomes of great importance. In recent years the of great human interest. The reader will probably find interesting the following learned contribution in the Journal of the American Medical Association, as well as practical hints about the avoidance and cure of colds. Says Dr. J. W. McClean of Avon-by-the-Sea, N. Y.: "I have long been convinced that 'colds' in the nose and throat are not caused by bacteria, but are produced 'primarily by temperature changes,' which may 'light up' the nose and pharynx." Even when the

the sneeze had begun with leakage at the nose—a sign invariably with it of developed 'cold in the head'—I could as invariably avert these 'colds' by (1) strenuous exercise maintained until all sensation of stuffiness of nose and throat had gone; or by (2) a short cold foot bath; or (3) a longer hot foot and leg bath; or (4) by application of an electric heating lamp following this by quickly covering the feet and legs, keeping them warm either in shoes by motion or in bed wrapped warmly (this if retiring)."

How Ancients Regarded Garlic.

Despite its curative powers—not to speak of its association with grand opera—garlic has had many bitter enemies, according to "The By the Way" columnist of the Daily Express. In ancient Egypt the priests refused entry to the temples of any one smelling of garlic, and the Greeks held it in such abhorrence that they were accustomed to place it on the piles of stones at the crossroads as a supper for Hecate, the goddess of the infernal regions.

In medieval Europe, too, the detention in which the bulb was held was often displayed and in some of the royal courts it was a serious offense to partake of it.

Alphonse, King of Castile, instituted in 1368 an order of knighthood called the Ordre de la Bande, the members of which were not permitted to eat either garlic or onions under pain of exclusion from the court.—London Correspondence in New York Tribune.

How Matter Affects Energy. The foundation on which much of the progress of chemistry has been built was the proposition that matter is indestructible; and likewise the notion that energy was indestructible, for the theory of the conservation of energy, was responsible for reconciling the laws and ideas of physics, and pointed out the way for tremendous progress. More recent investigation says Popular Mechanics Magazine has shown an interrelation between these two things—matter and energy—and that, as in radioactive substances, energy may appear at the expense of matter, so that according to more recent ideas the sum total of matter and energy is constant, but each one of them separately, is not necessarily so. However, a small quantity of matter corresponds to a

HORSES RACE ON RONDOUT CREEK

There was a good sized crowd in attendance at the horse races on the Rondout creek, near the bridge, Monday, and some fast brushes were staged under the auspices of the Kingston Horsemen's Association. The fact that a local paper made the statement that there would be no races kept some of the crowd and several of the horse owners away from the scene.

AMERICA'S STAR TO PLAY HERE

Mrs. Fiske, Most Brilliant Exponent of Drama on American Stage, Coming to Kingston February 25.

The coming of Mrs. Minnie Mad-dern Fiske to the Kingston Opera House on Saturday, February 25, is the most noteworthy dramatic event in the history of Kingston which never before has had the opportunity of having so noted an actress here.

Mrs. Fiske's fame is as wide as knowledge of the drama, and her position as the most distinguished exponent of the dramatic art on the American stage places Kingston in an enviable position among the cities of New York state. Famous operatic stars sometimes visited this city in past years before the establishment of the Metropolitan Opera Company, but Kingston never before has entertained a dramatic star of such distinguished ability and fame.

From the time when Mrs. Fiske began to attract world-wide attention in her notable production of "Back Street" in New York city, until the present, Mrs. Fiske's career has been a succession of triumphs of such magnitude as to preclude comparison, and as an actress she is without a peer.

Mrs. Fiske will appear in her new play, "Wake Up, Jonathan," which had a remarkable run at the Henry Miller Theatre in New York city last season. After opening the present season in New York with the same play, in response to the insistent demand of the New York theatre-goers, Mrs. Fiske decided to spend the winter on tour through the south and southwest, where she has been playing long engagements to capacity houses in the larger cities. Kingston is among the first cities of New York state to be favored by her on her return to the north. As usual, Mrs. Fiske is supported by the notable Metropolitan cast.

"Wake Up, Jonathan," while offering Mrs. Fiske every opportunity for the display of her inimitable artistry and her unapproachable sense of humor, differs in almost every respect from any other play in which she has been seen. It is a domestic fantasy in which tragic notes serve to form a symphony of rare humor and boundless wit which Mrs. Fiske alone of all American stage stars is capable of exhibiting to the best advantage. Critics agree that it is the most delightful comedy of her brilliant career.

JANUARY BROUGHT DEATH TO TWO GREAT MUSICIANS.

In January, 1922, there died two great musicians, two fine men—Hans Kronold and Arthur Nikisch. Many Kingstonians heard Mr. Kronold play at two symphony concerts given by the Kingston Symphony orchestra.

When Mr. Kronold came to Kingston the first time he was at once interested in the remarkable character of the Kingston Symphony Orchestra and what it was doing and what it was attempting to do. Nor did he forget the impression made upon him. As a result he came even more gladly the second time. While many of the artists who appeared with the symphony orchestra made their contract with the included provision that they were to play for the school children in the afternoon, most of them found convincing excuses for skipping the public rehearsals. Not so Kronold. He took especial delight in playing for the boys and girls. Arthur Nikisch was one of the greatest of a great line of conductors of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Feb. 13.—The dress-making class of the Home Bureau will have a basket meeting in the Grange Hall on Friday, February 17. Both the clothes basket and the dinner basket will be in evidence.

The builders' class was entertained at the home of Miss Nellie Eckert on Saturday afternoon, February 11. Those members of the class who took and passed satisfactorily an examination in Old Testament studies were Miss Nellie Eckert, Miss Elizabeth Bogart, Miss Edith Lockwood, and the Misses Pauline and Dorothy Pelen.

The Ladies' Aid Society held its February business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Hines. Over twenty members were present, due to the kindness of Erasmus Brink, who took a sleigh load. A feast of good things was provided. Mrs. Hines, who has been confined to the house over five weeks due to an accident, is doing nicely.

Henry Sutherland has sold his farm about two miles south of Stone Ridge village. It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland will move into the house owned and occupied by Mrs. Susan Van Loovan.

7/8 of a pound of dirt in 5 3/4 minutes

From a supposedly clean Chenille rug, 9 x 12 in size, in the home of C. C. Campbell, 746 Gordon Terrace, Chicago, fourteen ounces of dirt were removed in 5 3/4 minutes with the Royal Electric Cleaner. Let the Royal demonstrator make the same test in your home.

Why do half a job of cleaning —with double the work?

When you sweep and dust, your one purpose is to make the house thoroughly clean. And it can be clean only when you have taken out the dust imbedded in rugs and fabrics as well as the surface dirt and litter.

Brushes—even if motor driven—brooms and ordinary cleaning methods do little more than pick up surface dirt, and the constant friction of the bristles also wears and destroys the nap of the rug. The powdery dirt imbedded in the rug is not removed.

Air brings about two pounds of finely-powdered dirt into the average home each week, scientific men have estimated. And scientists agree that only air—air controlled as in the Royal Electric Cleaner—can take it out.

We will gladly prove these facts to you in your own home. Just telephone—and our demonstrator will show you how the Royal sweeps and cleanses with air, and how thoroughly it cleans rugs, upholstery, mattresses, hangings, walls and floors.

Eighteen cents a day will put this electric servant in your home. Ask today for a demonstration and the terms of our easy-payment offer.
